Jillian's News 6/2/17

Reining is a western riding competition for horses where the riders guide the horse through a precise pattern of circles, spins, and stops. I have attended a past reining event at the Hamburg Fairgrounds and enjoyed their routine of each level.

They have a website you can visit at (<http://www.yankeereiners.com>) to learn their routines and see what they are doing during the show and throughout the year.

After the reining event I got to talk to a rider named Travis Puffpaf and learned how long he has been riding (he has been riding since he was 12) and he likes to ride his horse named Midget!

I hope people who are interested in reining are able to attend some events and learn about reining!
